

Rockefeller Tells Voters Salvation of Youth Rests Upon Support Given GOP

Congressman Presents Picture of Youth Almost Demoralized by Mere Subsistence Given by New Deal

Other Speakers

Senator Wicks, Ruth Dexter, Philip Elting, R. H. C. Snyder Also Speak

The salvation of America's younger generation rests with their support of Republican principles of government, Congressman Louis K. Rockefeller told a gathering of voters last night at the first major political rally sponsored by the Republican Club at Cook's Hall.

Mr. Rockefeller was one of several prominent speakers which included State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Ruth Dexter, who substituted for Mrs. E. E. Capwell, Philip Elting, Republican county chairman and R. H. C. Snyder, state negro organizer. Louis G. Bruhn, president, and Mrs. Mary Otto, vice-president, alternated in introducing the speakers.

After paying tribute to the women in the audience and noting the fact that it was ladies' night, Congressman Rockefeller said he noticed that a number of young people also were present.

"I am pleased to see so many young people here," he said, "for to my mind this is one of the most vital elections to the younger voter."

"What has the future in store for these young men and women?" he asked, and he then told of a typical case of a young man who came to his office for help in securing a job. The young man, he said, had borrowed money to aid in putting him through college and when he was ready to face the world he had no place to turn for work.

Just what do these young people face? The congressman asked again. This young man he said, had told him that he could get a job, but it was on relief and he did not want to be a pauper.

Not a pessimist
"I'm not a pessimist," the congressman continued, "but when I look into the future the outlook is not bright." The young man he referred to, he said, was equipped for better work, but was offered only a job with a pick and shovel.

"The young men and women, and the young boys and girls, who are worth their salt," he declared, "are reluctant to face a future which has nothing else to offer and if we ask them this, of course, their independent spirit itself will answer; 'not one of us.'"

"We have had six years of the New Deal and it has divided the nation into two classes; those who have and those who have not. What incentive is there for the young people to join the ranks of the 'haves' to work and be thrifty, when they know this new administration will take it away from them and give it to those who have not, even when they may not be worthy of it."

"What boy or girl can find happiness in a promise of nothing more than bare subsistence? Such a policy of government he continued, breeds class hatred, while the cost of government is steadily mounting to unprecedented proportions."

Burden of Debt
"This stupendous debt is to be put on the shoulders of the young people and will be carried on their benumbed backs through the rest of their lives." He then spoke of the gigantic national debt, and added, "It's all well for those New Dealers to speak of them lightly, but some of them don't even blink when they say we can stand a national debt of $100,000,000,000, for they will not be called upon to pay."

"This great national debt," he declared, "will be paid by the workers of tomorrow, who are the boys and girls of today. They will pay after the Farleys and the Hopkins and the rest of them are gone and forgotten."

"The New Deal is taking the money being collected and using it for their own purpose and in the government till they are putting in I. O. U's."

"The very philosophy of our constitution does not mean that any one generation, which happens to control the government, affairs has any right to distribute and impose a mortgage on future generations so that the present generation may live in ease without work and without worry. To me it is wicked that other generations have already been put into pawn."

Billions Upon Billions
"The New Deal has been spending billions upon billions to perpetuate themselves in office; paying themselves princely salaries and saying to the youth, we care not if you have to suffer poverty."

"We should rise up in a battle of the ballots to put an end to this New Deal and the youth of today must take a choice or else—they will be condemning themselves."

It is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy by the first of the year. This old estate has been looked upon as one of the finest properties in the city. It overlooks the Hudson river to the east and the Catskills to the west.

Elting Reveals O'Connell Attack Is Fulfillment

Thomas E. Dewey's attack on the O'Connell's Democratic political machine in Albany county is the fulfillment of a promise made to Philip Elting, Ulster county Republican chairman, the latter revealed in a talk last night at a meeting of the local Republican Club at Cook's Hall.

Mr. Elting said that he had talked with Dewey in New York during a meeting of Republican county chairmen prior to the opening of the recent campaign and there made a bargain with him. "What's Ulster county going to do this time," Mr. Elting questioned, having said, "The local county chairman then revealed he had reminded Mr. Dewey that Ulster county gave candidate Bleakley a majority of between 7,000 and 8,000 votes. Mr. Dewey then suggested, said Mr. Elting, that 'you make it more this time.'"

"I'll do that," Mr. Elting quoted himself as having said, "if you'll make an attack on the rotten government at Albany."

This, Mr. Elting revealed, Dewey agreed to do, and he asked the audience to do his part in remembering his bargain with the party's gubernatorial candidate.

"We've been interested in this Albany situation for years," Mr. Elting said he told Dewey, and he expressed himself as sincerely anxious that something be done about it. "Let us make good this promise, which I made to Dewey," he asked, "by increasing our majority." Here he asked how much the majority should be and Senator Wicks responded with "10,000."

'Cancer Crusade Week'

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—The week of November 7 has been designated by Governor Lehman as "cancer crusade week" throughout New York state. The governor urged hospitals and other medical agencies to unite to further reduce the disease's death toll. For the eight successive year, he said, cancer "has been the second most important cause of death in New York state."

Utility Bargains

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—Heads of a dozen leading utilities companies announced "definite commitments" today to place immediate orders for power generating equipment for 1,000,000 kilowatts.

Stolen Goods Recovered

Dewey Says Civil Service Is Subject To Political Power

Says Proportion of State Appointees Subject to Whims of Politicians Greater Than in New York

En route with Dewey caravan to Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, Republican gubernatorial candidate, swung through the southern tier today with a criticism of the New York state and national civil service. Today he headed for Owego and Binghamton for the last speeches in his stumping tour of the southern tier.

In his speech at Elmira, Dewey sought to make civil service a major issue, devoting substantial part of his addresses to that subject. "New York," he said, "was the first state to adopt the merit system, but for years 'the system of political monopoly' had been 'moving smoothly along' until now more than half the state employees are subject to removal at the whim of a politician."

"Today the proportion of state appointees subject to politics is twice as great as in the city of New York. It's even one-third greater than in the federal government. No wonder the dominant political machines of this state have prospered so long."

Turning to the federal administration, he said: "Six years ago 81 per cent of all federal employees were under the merit system."

"The federal patronage system was on the run."

System Breaks Down
"Then what happened? The Democrats assumed control and installed a super-Tammany system of politics, the public payroll has been multiplied and the merit system has become demoralized. The merit system has declined from 81 per cent to 63 per cent of the nation's public servants."

"The public is becoming increasingly aware of the use of public funds for political purposes. The injury to civil service is becoming a major national issue. It is one of the major indictments against the national administration."

"The time has come," he said at another point, "when public"

France Has Grave Troubles, Break Threatens Premier

Observers Say Daladier's Address Against Communists Already Has Caused Split Among Officials

Tokyo's Warning

Japanese Tell Paris They May Take Measures as Result of Arms Shipment

(By The Associated Press)
Grave new troubles at home and abroad plagued France today in the still-unfinished aftermath of Germany's diplomatic victory at Munich and Japan's conquest of China.

A break was threatened in Premier Edouard Daladier's Radical-Socialist following which might seriously undermine his government at a time when France is struggling to reconstruct her finances and diplomacy.

French political observers said such a split, reaching even to high cabinet officers, already had occurred because of Daladier's violent attack against Communistism yesterday.

There were two reasons for Radical-Socialist discontent with Daladier's stand. His own power has been based partly on Communist support in the new strained popular front. Second, many observers interpreted Daladier's blast as an attack on Soviet Russia foreshadowing a rupture with France's ally.

The Japanese foreign office warned France that Japan "might be compelled to take measures" if the French continue to supply China with arms.

Possible Occupation

This, it was believed, meant possible Japanese occupation of Hainan Island off the South China coast—a danger France has faced since the war began in the Orient. Hainan is a strategic dagger aimed at the heart of France's oriental possessions.

In Rome, meanwhile, Premier Mussolini told Fascists Europe's "political horizon is clearing." While Reichsfuehrer Hitler's partner spoke at a celebration of the 16th anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome, his foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, and the German foreign minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, discussed the joint attitude of the Rome-Berlin axis on European affairs.

One subject was the Czechoslovak-Hungarian territorial dispute which, after weeks of threatening hostilities, appeared to be on the way to peaceful solution. Hungary has agreed to a Czechoslovak proposal for cessation outright of part of the demanded territory and arbitration of disputed areas by an Italian-German commission.

The Japanese foreign office was silent on a United States note demanding equitable treatment of American interests in China but the influential newspaper, Asahi said the government considered American insistence on a continued open door as "unsuitable."

It said Japan's advances in China created a new situation, necessitating treaty revisions.

Japanese forces pressed ahead from Hankow, captured provisional capital, taking Sienling, 50 miles south, and establishing a line for an advance down the vital Hankow-Canton railroad.

In Spain both insurgent and government reinforcements moved up on a front south of Madrid where insurgent forces twice this week have failed to crack government lines.

Huge Fire at Marseille

Marseille, Oct. 28 (AP)—A huge fire which swept 10 buildings in the heart of Marseille today and was believed to have caused three deaths led Premier Edouard Daladier to suspend until tomorrow the Radical-Socialist conference here. The fire destroyed the big Nouvelles Galeries de Paris department store, the Noailles Hotel—where Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet were staying—and spread to two other hotels, a bank and several other buildings. There were 20 known injured.

Here of undetermined origin destroyed a barn structure which had been used as a social hall on the Shagbark estate at Pine Grove on the Woodstock-Saugerties road early yesterday afternoon. Firemen from Woodstock, Saugerties and Centerville responded to an alarm but the fire had gained too much headway before their arrival. Mrs. E. B. Cadwell, who with her husband owns the property, said today that she was unable to estimate the loss. She had rented the structure several months ago to the Shagbark Guest Ranch, Inc. A new dance floor had been built recently in the building and considerable old furniture was stored in one of the upper rooms. The firemen pumped water from a large lake on the property and were able to keep the flames from spreading to other buildings.

DISMAY AT DAYTON:

34,000 School Children Face Forced Vacation in Ohio City

Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 28 (AP)—Thirty-four thousand boys and girls—from kindergarten children who didn't know what it was all about to High School Seniors worried about their June diplomas—went to school today for the last time before a holiday which may last until the new year.

Parents and school officials admitted there was no way to prevent closing of schools after today's sessions because the city school treasury is empty and there is, besides, a $61,000 deficit.

Among older students the reaction was one of dismay. Younger ones chanted "No more pencils, no more books." Parents and police wondered how to keep them busy and off the streets of this industrial city of 217,000.

"There's a chance," said one senior, "that a group of us will hire a tutor so we'll be sure to get our diplomas." "All of us," commented a girl, "ought to talk to our parents. If they understood what this means to us they'd do something."

The city meanwhile faced a stone wall. With no possibility of obtaining state aid immediately.

The Chamber of Commerce appointed an emergency committee to ask Gov. Martin L. Davey for help.

In Exempt Truck Zone

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Commercial zones for six additional cities in which truck operators will be exempted from regulation by the Public Service Commission were announced today.

The 1938 law gave the commission jurisdiction over trucks hauling merchandise for hire in all sections of the state except the zones it authorized the commission to set up.

New areas exempted include: Kingston—City of Kingston and the towns of Ulster, Rhinebeck and Esopus.

6-Mile-a-Minute Plane Is Answer

U. S. Army's Immediate Reply to European Rivalry Is Flight to Buffalo

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—A six-mile-a-minute war plane is the army's immediate answer to European rivalry for speed supremacy in the air.

A 360-mile flight in 61 minutes from Dayton, Ohio, to Buffalo, N. Y., yesterday by Lieut. Benjamin S. Kelsey lifted the wraps from a pursuit ship about which the air corps previously had little to say.

The plane, the Curtiss P-37, already has passed the experimental stage. An initial squadron of 13 ordered last December soon will be delivered, officials said.

Without halting to gloat over the P-37, the army intends to announce in a few days another and presumably even faster plane. Designated the P-40, it is an experimental job, and most details will not be disclosed for the present.

Both Germany and Great Britain have combat planes for which they have boasted even greater speed than that attained by the P-37. But the air corps has a ready answer.

Lieutenant Kelsey's flight and earlier trials, which were kept secret, were made with full military equipment. Germany claimed some 380 miles an hour for its Messerschmitt, but reports here are that it was stripped for racing. Although Britain's Spitfire exceeded 400 miles an hour, it

Vote of Justices Reversing Appellate Branch Is Unanimous and Flanagan's Name Will Be on Ballot

Vote Is Voided

Primary Day Vote of John Davide Is Ruled Null and Void by Court

The Court of Appeals last evening unanimously reversed the Appellate Division and affirmed the decision of Justice Harry E. Schirick in the contest which has been waged between Chris J. Flanagan and Harry H. Fleming for the local endorsement of the American Labor Party by the decision of the Court of Appeals the Labor party endorsement goes to Mr. Flanagan, Democratic nominee for surrogate and his name will appear on the Election Day ballot as the ALP choice.

A vote cast by John Davide of the Third Election District of town of Ulster has been declared "null and void" by both Justice Harry E. Schirick and the Court of Appeals. The Appellate Division held that the vote cast by Mr. Davide was "irregular" but should be tallied as a vote for Harry H. Fleming, Republican nominee for surrogate. That court directed that the board of elections correct its record and cause the primary day vote to be tallied as a 17 to 17 tie vote. It was Davide's vote which had broken the tie and given Mr. Fleming a 18 to 17 vote for the nomination.

Primary Vote

Following the primary day vote the total American Labor Party vote was tallied 18 for Fleming and 17 for Flanagan for surrogate. Chris J. Flanagan, who had been the regular nominee for surrogate endorsed by the Labor party, secured an order to show cause and the matter was argued before Justice Schirick at special term. Later testimony was taken. That testimony showed that at the time Davide appeared at the poll to cast his primary ballot there was but one inspector of election present. Davide, who had voted on two prior occasions after becoming a citizen brought to the polls a sample ballot on which the Republican candidates names had been written. He stated he wanted to vote those names and asked for aid. The lone inspector alleges he administered the oath to Davide and then gave the assistance required.

Mr. Flanagan attacked the vote on the grounds Davide had no right to have assistance given and also on the grounds that the vote was irregular in that it had not been cast according to law. Testimony was taken and it was found only one inspector was present when Davide voted and when the assistance was given.

Schirick's Decision

Justice Schirick held the voter was not entitled to assistance and rejected the vote and ordered the election record changed. His decision was appealed to the Appellate Division by George F. Kaufman, attorney for Mr. Fleming, and that appeal was argued and the court reversed Justice Schirick and held the voter should not be deprived of his vote because of the fact that the election board had failed to comply with the law. The vote was reinstated.

From the decision of the Appellate Division Mr. Flanagan took an appeal to the highest court of the state and that appeal was argued Thursday afternoon. The decision of the Court of Appeals was announced later in the evening.

The appeal was argued by William A. Kaereber with Elmer H. Nathan of counsel for Mr. Flanagan and George F. Kaufman and Robert G. Groves appeared for Mr. Fleming.

Judges Crane, Lehman, O'Brien, Hubbs, Loughran and Rippey were sitting. Judge Finch was not present. All six judges concurred in the findings.

Memorandum of Court

The memorandum of the Court of Appeals follows:

"Matter of application of Chris J. Flanagan to review the nomination of Harry H. Fleming as candidate for the office of surrogate of Ulster county, New York. "Order of Appellate Division reversed and that of Special Term affirmed. The voter Davide did not bring himself within the provisions of Section 263 of the Election Law and the omission was not more irregularities. No opinion. All concur except Finch, J., taking no part."

Officials Are Silent

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—Customs officials maintained silence today of the contents of four valises taken from the Park Avenue apartment of Supreme Court Justice Edgar J. Lauer after a six-hour search for smuggled wearing apparel. Affidavits sworn by Gordon H. Pike, customs agent, and by Rosa Weber, former maid in the Lauer home, led to the search.

Dies Fighting Fire

Troy, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—A captain of the Troy Fire Department died early today in a two-alarm fire that destroyed the 63-year-old Troy city hall at an estimated loss of $255,000 and was still burning in a neighboring church steeple. Matthew M. Casey, captain of pumper No. 5, was found prostrate beside a hose line as firemen fought the blaze. He was taken to the Troy Hospital and was dead upon arrival.

Trapping Season

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—The conservation department reminded trappers today of the open season on raccoon beginning November 1 and continuing to January 20. At the same time, the department announced two other seasons—for mink November 10 to March 15, and skunk November 10 to February 10.

Dewey Says Civil Service Political

service should be a career, not a game. "The breakdown of civil service is a blow at the heart of government. Its restoration will bring back confidence in the government of our state. It will help to crush the influence of unworthy elements in political life. It will preserve in state affairs the loyalty and devotion of the great body of public servants."

Governor Herbert H. Lehman, who described his Republican gubernatorial opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, as "essentially a prosecutor," vowed today to give him a lesson in state finance. Governor Lehman is on his way to Rochester.

Lehman's Reply
Obviously in reply to his opponent's jibes that the governor balanced the state budget only through the "niceties of book-keeping," Lehman said:

"Tonight at Rochester I plan to give Mr. Dewey a lesson in finance."

After reviewing the Democratic administration's record of labor and social legislation at a rally in a Syracuse hotel, Lehman renewed his challenge to Dewey to state his position on political issues.

"I know Mr. Dewey," he said, "I appointed him as a special prosecutor because I believed essentially he has the qualifications of a prosecutor."

"I have said before and I repeat it tonight, I am convinced that he neither understands nor is in sympathy with the social, labor and humanitarian objectives for which I have fought."

The governor urged that these policies "be left in the care of those who sympathize with and understand them."

Terminating unemployment insurance "one of the greatest advances in the history of social legislation," Lehman declared that "obstruction and opposition" were the only "contributions" made to enactment of this measure by the Republican party.

He attacked Dewey for terminating such legislation "a gigantic failure," asserting that "we realize that he had no experience in the enactment or administration of labor or social welfare programs."

He accused the Republican party of either "remaining silent" or of attempting to "sabotage" Democratic sponsored social legislation and raising the reactionary and standpoint cry of "failure" to all progressive and humane measures.

The governor again urged rejection of Democratic congressional candidates.

Congressman James M. Moad, candidate for the United States Senate, declared that "we can never enjoy a lasting prosperity unless and until American business in general is recognized to pay such higher wages as will enable our workers to buy our industrial output as well as to give our industries an adequate home market."

Senator Robert F. Wagner said that the New Deal "with its insistence against old age destitution blotted out the frightful prospect of a penniless old age."

Republicans Plan Rally on Monday

A big Republican rally will be staged Monday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Mary's Hall, 200 North street. Among the speakers will be Assemblyman J. Edward Conway, Harry H. Flemming, the Republican candidate for surrogate, Mayor C. J. Heenan, County Attorney Roscoe Blomworth, and Attorney Robert G. Groves.

This is the first rally to be held this year in the Ponckhockie section of the city and it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

Following the speaking program there will be entertainment and refreshments. The rally is open to the public.

CAMPAIGNS DESPITE BROKEN HIP

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms suffered a broken hip in a fall recently, but that didn't prevent her from making a campaign broadcast from an Albuquerque, N. Two Ways to Plant Bulbs

1—Where bulbs are to be planted among perennials in the border without disturbing the established plants, a hole the proper depth should be dug for each bulb with a trowel or a dibber. In either case be sure the hole has a flat (not pointed) bottom so the bulb rests on loose soil and is not "hung" in an air pocket. Mix a tablespoonful of balanced plant food thoroughly with the soil covering each bulb.

2—Where bulbs are planted in space free of other plants, a bed may be excavated to the maximum depth necessary for your planting. Loosen soil on bottom and level it. Place in desired locations, the bulbs which should be planted deepest. Then start filling in the soil. Smaller bulbs, requiring shallow planting, may be placed as the soil is filled in to their required depths. Plant food spread over the surface before excavating, at rate of four pounds to a hundred square feet, will be well mixed with the soil by the operation.

Glass Wool as Winter Mulch

(By The Master Gardener)

Glass wool is a comparatively new development. It is officially known as fibrous glass and is commonly used in insulating buildings. But it may prove to be a boon to the gardener also.

In experiments conducted at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., by R. C. Allen, to ascertain the relative value of various materials used as winter mulches, such as straw, leaves, pine boughs, and excelsior, Mr. Allen included glass wool also.

Glass wool proved to be superior to all the other mulches, as far as protection of plants was concerned. Here are some of the reasons it was found preferable as a mulching material:

1. It is not absorbent and does not hold water, therefore there is not nearly the amount of danger from rotting that there is with other materials.

2. Glass wool, while probably somewhat more expensive than many of the other materials named, can be used year after year. It comes in long strips and can be unrolled like a carpet. It may be spread over the ground or wrapped around plants.

3. Glass wool is free from disease, and from insect and weed pests.

4. It prevents sudden changes in temperature due to its exceptional insulating qualities.

5. It admits a slight amount of light, which is an advantage.

6. Glass wool has a particular advantage when used around trees and shrubs, in that it is repellent to rodents. Mice will not work under it as they do under snow or straw.

Of course with so many advantages to recommend its use, naturally there would be some drawbacks also. However, in contrast to the many advantages, there are only two disadvantages which have so far come to light:

1. It is rather expensive.

2. It is rather difficult to keep the moving on the beds. It must be fastened down in some manner. Chicken wire has been

Color Plan Makes Tulips More Striking

Color scheme planting with the May-flowering tulips is quite possible; and striking effects may be obtained by grouping contrasting colors. But there is no flower family with which attention to color grouping is less important.

Even that combination which so many good gardeners regard with aversion—bright red with brilliant yellow—is a welcome sight on a spring day. Mixtures of tulips are always interesting, even where they contain all classes, including the most vivid cottage varieties. And mixtures of Darwins are especially pleasing, because most of the varieties in this family have their colors softened by an overlay of white.

Grouping tulips in a mixture which is accurately balanced, containing exactly the same number of bulbs of each color, evenly placed throughout the group, is a good arrangement. The way to make such a planting is to buy named varieties and plant them according to a system which will give an even distribution of each color throughout the bed.

The difficulty which always exists in planning color combinations, due to uncertainty as to what is the exact color of the flower to be grown, is emphasized in dealing with tulips. Bulbs must be planted now and the flowers can only be seen in the spring. There is no way known by which an accurate register of a tulip's color can be made. This makes especially difficult plantings of different tones of one color together.

Contrasts are Good

The pinks and lavenders, which predominate among the Darwins, are difficult to arrange by themselves, but the alternative, which is to arrange them in contrasting colors, is welcome. A group of pinks set off by a contrasting group of purple or lavender of the right shade, so far as obtainable data will indicate, is sure to be pleasing. And contrasting are especially pleasing in the early garden, when eyes are weary of winter's monotones. The Darwin and Breeder tulips furnish excellent purple and orange varieties, and the Darwin and Cottage classes provide a complete range of reds and pinks. There are white Darwins and varieties almost black. A white and black planting, such as White Lady and Tulipe Noire, is pleasing, though one might think otherwise. The violet purple Faust and a bright pink such as Princess Elizabeth, makes a beautiful combination. The pale pink Clara Butt is set off by the pale lavender of Dream. An infinite number of such combinations can be figured out of any good list.

Local Red Cross Names Chairmen

The time for the annual roll call of the American Red Cross is but a few days away, and Mrs. Charles Tappen, secretary of the local chapter, announced today the completion of the list of chairmen who will supervise the drive in the various communities and wards of the city.

With Mrs. Frederic Holcomb again serving in the capacity of general chairman, the annual roll call will get under way on November 11 and continue until November 25.

Last year the Red Cross membership reached the total of 6,523,555—the highest enrollment since the post-World War period. The reason for this increase is cited by Norman H. Davis, national chairman, as the result of increased service of the local chapters in the communities, and the various national crises which have been met promptly and efficiently with the facilities of the American Red Cross.

The recent devastation of New England by the hurricane necessitating relief afforded quickly by the Red Cross is an example of the service of the Red Cross in time of emergency.

County and city ward chairmen named by Mrs. Charles Tappen are as follows:

Hurley, Mrs. Roger H. Loughran and Miss Adeline Lawson; West Hurley, Mrs. Michael Joyce; Woodstock, Mrs. Mortimer B. Downer and Mrs. H. I. Todd; Saugerties, Mrs. Joseph A. Smith; Katrine, Mrs. Hugh Ferguson;

Milton, Miss Mina Stoham; Marlborough, Mrs. A. S. Ferguson; Highland, Mrs. John G. Batten; Rosendale, Mrs. Ralph LeFevre; and Mrs. D. D. Haynes; High Falls, Mrs. Charles Hodges; Stone Ridge, Mrs. William Haskin; Accord and Kerhonkson, Mrs. Percy Gazlay; Ellenville and Nanaucho, Mrs. Cleon B. Murray; Shokan, Mrs. Julia Winchell; Phoenix and Mt. Tremper, Mrs. Eleanor Brethaupt; Shandaken, Mrs. Fred Osterhoudt; Big Indian, Mrs. William Cruikshank; Chichester, Mrs. L. M. Frederic; New Paltz, Mrs. S. J. O'Brien and Mrs. Jay LeFevre; New Paltz Normal School, Miss Barbara Pfaff; Gardiner, Miss Laura Horcherding; Walkkill, Mrs. Annie Thompson and Mrs. Warren Deyo; Esopus, Dr. George W. Ross, Mohonk Lake, Mrs. A. K. Smiley.

City wards—First ward, Mrs. Frederic Holcomb; Second ward, Mrs. John B. Stealey and Mrs. John Matthews; Third ward, Mrs. Harry Walker; Fourth ward, Mrs. Alva S. Staples; Fifth ward, Raymond H. Van Valkenburg; Sixth ward, Mrs. Joseph Jacobson; Seventh ward, Mrs. Adam J. Salzman; Eighth ward, Mrs. Conrad J. Holsman; Ninth ward, Miss Dorothy Dick; Tenth ward, Mrs. William A. Frey; Eleventh ward, Mrs. Eugene Cornwell; Twelfth ward, Mrs. Noble Graham; Thirteenth ward, Miss Marion Tunney.

Local Man Gets Service Button

Ernest J. Birch of this city, an employee of Armour and Company, has qualified for the silver service button of the Institute of American Meat Packers by completing a quarter of a century in the meat packing industry, the Institute announced today.

Button winners who attended the 33rd annual convention of the Institute at Chicago this week received their awards from W. W. Schlumberger of Baltimore, Md., president of the William Schlumberger-T. J. Kurlde Company.

Others will get them by mail within the next week or two. More than 1,500 buttons are being awarded this year to meat packing industry veterans throughout the United States, including 127 buttons in New York. In the past 18 years, more than 18,000 workers have received them.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robin Coon

HOLLYWOOD—If it surprised you Joan Crawford fans that she actually sought to play in something called "Ice Follies" the explanation is simple:

The role gives the girl a chance to sing; and "Ice Follies," despite its name, is a very good script.

It was a good script when it was filmed before, and it should be good still. It's the stage play, "Excess Baggage," made in the silents with William Haines and Josephine Dunn, and a darn good movie it was. All about a vaudeville trouper whose wife wasn't helping much with the act, and was being "carried along" in kindness until the tables turned. Then the trouper's wife became the real star and the husband became the superfluous freight. They've adapted the story to ice—and Joan's the girl whose singing doesn't click in an ice circus but gets her a movie contract.

Reason enough for Joan to want it, but it may seem odd that Metro should take to the ice when that commodity already has been worn thin for movie purposes by Sonja Henie, whose need for stronger stories is so great that her next film is being postponed.

METRO figures, however, that it has a strong story in "Excess Baggage" and it figures all the "Ice Follies" troupe will offer something different from the work familiarized by Sonja. The difference will lie in the work of skating comedians—the comedy in Sonja's films has never been on the ice.

Working in the picture by day, the "Follies" troupe is performing for the public here by night. Opening tonight the rinked looked like a Hollywood convention with Joan Crawford there with Cesar Romero, Janet Gaynor with Gilbert Adrian, the designer, the Richard Barthelmesses, the Harold Lloyds, Virginia Bruce and husband J. Walter Ruben.

THEY saw a good show—beauty, speed, skill, and comedy. Metro is hopeful of Bessie Erhardt as a screen acting possibility, all kidding aside. In the comedy department—where they look to be different from Sonja—there's Heinie Brock, whose "drunk act" on skates has a Chaplinish quality that might mean something in pictures; and there's Les Hamilton and Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson.

But if you see the "Follies" on tour, don't expect to see the same show in the movie. You can count on Metro to lavish things up

Sargasso Sea Named for Herb Growing in Wells

Fear of the Sargasso sea and similar phenomena dates back more than 2,000 years. Aristotle wrote of their perils. Before his time Phoenician mariners carried home with them stories of how immense fields of sea plants had endangered their ships. In the fifteenth century a merchant of Cadiz sent a galleon a hundred leagues westward, east winds swept the galleon into the area of weeds and calms, and freedom was gained only after many difficulties.

Christopher Columbus had heard of the sea before he set out from Palos, relates Frederic Babcock in the Chicago Tribune. He plunged into it on his way to San Salvador in September, 1492. He named it "The Sea Weed Meadows." As he sailed slowly on the weeds grew thicker and thicker until they spread out on all sides like a great flooded plain. He took soundings, but could not find bottom. His compass needle went wrong, pointing to the northwest instead of to the pole star. After days of drifting his ships emerged into a clear space, where the water was like a mirror. It was so still, in fact, that it was stagnant. So the becalmed Columbus was as badly off as when he had been in the weeds.

Mutiny grew among the crews. It might have prevented the discovery of America had not a breeze come out of the southwest. The explorers escaped after having had their plans and ships—tangled up for nearly two weeks.

Where did the sea get its name? The Portuguese with Columbus saw in the weed a resemblance to the herb sargasso, which grew in the wells in their homeland.

Comets Are Cold Except

When They Are Near Sun

In size comets range from ones barely large enough to be seen with a telescope (without doubt there are still smaller ones) to giants a million miles in diameter, with tails 100 million miles long. These big ones are by no means as formidable as the above dimensions would indicate. For one thing, they are quite cold except when they are near the sun; the light they give off is not their own, but is produced by the sunlight that strikes them. The farther they are from the sun the dimmer they become, according to Dr. Thomas M. Beck in the Chicago Tribune.

For all of their tremendous bulk, they have astonishingly little matter to them. Occasionally individual comets have passed very close to one of the outer planets such as Jupiter. At such times the planet's gravitation deflects the comet completely out of its course, but the most accurate observations have failed to reveal that the comet has the slightest effect on the planet.

The conclusion is that even the giant comets have less, and probably very much less, than a millionth of the earth's mass. There is far less matter per cubic inch in a comet than there is in the most perfect vacuum yet produced by man, and still less in the comet's tail.

Permission to Punch

Boston, Oct. 28 (AP).—Sixty-three-year-old Mrs. Mary Sullivan had permission today to continue bag punching as exercise to help her arthritis notwithstanding objections of her South Boston neighbors who don't like the noise. Major Peter Borre, a master appointed by Suffolk Court to hear their objections, reported the noise "does not in fact constitute a disturbance or a nuisance."

Part-Time School Explained to Club

Some of the aims and ambitions as well as problems which face instructors in the Kingston Part Time or Continuation School are presented to members of Kingston Kiwanis Thursday by Miss Margaret M. Schuetz, teacher of home-making, and Robert J. Schuetz, director of Part Time school.

Miss Schuetz spoke of the work which was being carried on among young folks of the city who have been forced to leave school at an early age and seek work. The problem of aiding these young folks in continuation school was discussed and instances cited where through the aid of the school instructors the students were directed toward a beneficial understanding of life's problems.

Mr. Service, who in addition to being director of Part Time school, is also county probation officer and a man of wide experience in the guidance of youth, traced the part time school, or extension work movement, from its beginning.

Many years ago in Europe, a youth was compelled to pursue his schooling while at the same time he was being taught a trade. By that method the European craftsman became famous for his excellent work and at the close of the World War, Mr. Service said, the idea was transplanted in New York state. Soldiers returning from Europe had noticed the effect of continuation of education along with learning a trade and sought to have it made a part of our education system. Endorsed by labor organizations the plan became effective on the insistence of those who had seen its benefits in Europe. Instead of a student ceasing to acquire an education just as soon as he or she is able to leave school and go to work, it is now compulsory to attend part time school in conjunction with work. While working the pupil is also acquiring a further education.

While many students in part time school fail to see the direct benefits while attending school,

Mr. Service said he had many former continuation school students who return in later life to praise the value of the education which they acquired in part time school.

President Paul Zucco presided at last week's "National Apple Week" and Kingston Kiwanis Club went on record as endorsing this nation-wide movement.

William Byrne, chairman of the committee having in charge the reception of the retiring Lieutenant Governor of Division 3, state of New York, which will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel next Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, urged every Kiwanian to attend this function. There will be no regular meeting of the club next Thursday noon but he asked all Kiwanians to attend the inter-club meeting on Wednesday evening.

The reception will be given in honor of Roger H. Loughran of the Kingston club, who will be succeeded on January first by Lieutenant Governor-elect Harry Hopper of Beacon. There will be an informal dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock followed by entertainment of a professional nature at 8:30 o'clock and dancing will follow the entertainment.

A feature of the evening will be the absence of speeches," said Chairman Byrne, who is being assisted in the arrangements by Kiwanians Samter and Doty.

Delegations from Kingston, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Port Jervis, Beacon and Middletown which make up Division 3, are expected to be present at the meeting.

K. of C. to Hold Special Meeting

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the clubhouse, Kingston Council No. 275 will hold a special meeting for the purpose of conferring the first and second degrees on a class of candidates. A number of applicants have completed the necessary requirements for membership since the last regular meeting and in order to receive the major degree next Sunday, October 30, this special meeting is to be called by Grand Knight Joseph J. Murphy so that these candidates may be ready for the ceremonies on Sunday.

At the present time more than 50 candidates from the local council are awaiting the Third Degree and this number together with those candidates who are coming to Kingston from the other councils of the 37th New York District will form one of the largest classes to receive the major degree in this section in some time.

This is the second major degree that Kingston Council has had in about a year which speaks well for the efforts of the membership committee under the chairmanship of Allen A. Baker who received excellent support from the entire council.

The special meeting this evening will get underway promptly at 8 o'clock.

An aggregate area of 3,680 square miles—nearly twice as large as the state of Delaware—has been planted in trees in the United States since 1824.

Rockefeller Tells Need of Youth

Senator Wicks Speaks

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks stressed the fact that Governor Herbert H. Lehman was seeking re-election against his personal wishes and only because he was drafted by leaders of the Democratic political machine. He also launched a scathing attack upon the qualifications of Charles Poletti, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor.

"Why all this consternation among the Democrats?" the senator asked at the outset of his talk. "Why all this forcing of Lehman?" He told me last winter that he would not run again and Mr. Lehman told me that he would not and yet he yielded again under pressure of the organization.

"I couldn't find out why until Tom Dewey went on the radio and threw off the cloak and I saw that's the kind of a man we want to show up the Democrats, one who will give the government back in the hands of the people and not leave it in the hands of crooked politicians."

The senator reviewed briefly the packing of the ballot boxes and he declared that it was a Democratic policy to consider in all of their political moves, the question: "What is my take?"

"Politics for Profit?"

"The Democratic party is one whose slogan is 'politics for profit.' We should elect a man who believes in politics for service."

Speaking of the Governor's expressed intention to appoint a commission to investigate youth, the senator asked: "I wonder what he's going to do to investigate Albany?"

"I've been in Albany for 12 years," he said, "I know what was going on in Albany and I know the Governor knew it. Your own Assemblyman introduced a resolution in the legislature to investigate Albany, but what was done about it?"

The senator spoke in behalf of the entire Republican ticket and declared that "Everyone on the ticket is deserving of your support or they would not be on the ticket." He then praised the qualifications of Fred Bontecou, Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor and compared his record with that of his opponent, Charles Poletti.

Calls Poletti 'Crackpot'

"What about his opponent?" he asked: "I know he's an atheist and I know he's a crackpot, and I know he was a floor representative of the C. I. O. and as such virtually fought the cause of Communism."

"I know Fred Bontecou is an honest man, and I can't see what the Democratic party could have been thinking of when they nominated a crackpot like Charles Poletti."

Speaking of Conway, the senator said: "He's one of the finest men I've ever served with and what a tower of strength he's been to me." Mr. Conway had helped him often with legal decisions, he said, and added "I hate to think of him not being there."

Concluding his talk the senator declared: "We want to put men in Albany who believe in the government instead of robbing it."

Ruth Dexter, who substituted for Mrs. H. E. Capewell, who was unable to be present, said she had just come from talking on the sidewalks of New York, where she enjoyed contact with "the people in the streets."

"Let's take the government out of the control and put it in the real," she declared. The governor, she reminded the group, "is our employer, and as such has one of the most distinguished jobs that anyone would want."

Says Attitude Wrong

Speaking of Governor Lehman's expressed desire to leave the office, she held that this should never be the attitude of a conscientious public servant.

In view of the fact that the governor seemed anxious to relinquish his office, she asked: "Do we want to keep him on this job for four more years?"

Referring to Mr. Dewey, she reminded her listeners: "We were put to it to find a better man" and the opportunity was never better, she contended, than it is with Mr. Dewey as a candidate.

The speaker urged the women to stand shoulder to shoulder and do their part. Women are an essential part of the government, she said, and they should consider themselves such.

"We don't want to pay a salary to the man who doesn't want the job and the only way you are going to get him out is to work," Mr. Dewey, she said, "is a social responsibility and he is equipped to understand its influences and government and the people."

H. H. C. Sydnor, negro, state organizer, declared: "We are standing on the brink of the greatest campaign the state of New York has ever witnessed in years and if we don't elect Tom Dewey, the racket bustler, we as a people are lost."

Justice to All

If Dewey is elected, said Mr. Sydnor, "you will find a man in Albany who will give justice regardless of race, creed or color. I am speaking tonight for 470,000 beating black souls down in Harlem and Harlem is not going to turn you down this time."

The speaker told of a tendency in Harlem of the colored people to turn back to the Republican party, which he described as the party of their fathers.

"We need people in Albany," he said, "who can speak our language," and he assured his listeners that he was confident of a Republican victory because the "handwriting is on the wall."

Before the program of entertainment, featuring the Ward Family, began, Mr. Bruhn, president of the organization read a telegram from Mr. Dewey which followed: "Wish with all my heart I could be with you today to personally thank your workers for all they have done and all they will do until victory on election day."

Prior to the opening of the speaking program the Doodledorfs played several selections and serenaded some of the speakers. The crowd filled all available chairs and many stood in the rear.

Nicaragua, Honduras Seizure

William Walker, in 1853, attempted unsuccessfully to found a new republic in northern Mexico. He next planned an expedition against Nicaragua, and in 1855 took the capital, Granada. Elected president and his government recognized by the United States, he next restored slavery. Meanwhile his enemies were closing in on him and in 1857 he surrendered for protection to a United States sloop of war. Later he made an unsuccessful attempt to recapture Nicaragua. In 1858 he attempted an expedition against Honduras, but was thwarted by shipwreck. In 1860, on a second expedition he captured Truxillo, but was soon compelled to flee. Subsequently he surrendered and was turned over to the Honduras government. Condemned by court-martial, he was shot at Truxillo on September 12, 1860.

The Early Americans

From data accumulated, archeologists are of the opinion that, long ages ago, the Americas were, at least, partly populated by a race of Caucasian stock that came from Polynesia and other parts of southeastern Asia and found its way to the western coast of South America by way of the Caroline islands and Easter Island. The sun circles and domes built by these white men in Peru closely resemble prehistoric examples in central Asia, Europe and England. The hair of the oldest mummies left by their descendants is yellow and red and very fine—much different from that of the Aztecs and other early inhabitants. It is also known that they used iron tools and were highly skilled in masonry, using building methods and architectural design found in Asia and Europe.

Use for Ancient Calendars

In the old days almanacs served a purpose, but even those who consulted them most zealously didn't rely altogether on the printed word in preparing daily schedules. The skies, the birds, even the animals bore portents. If the chickens roosted unusually early, that was a sure sign of rain before morning. If flies clung close to the ground rain was in the offing, and it was an omen if an owl hooted in the daytime.

Puzzle: Writes C. C. C. from Dallas: "During a recent visit in New York, I was craning my neck trying to see the top of the Empire State building when I accidentally bumped into a sawed-off stranger. He glared at me and told me to go back to Brooklyn where I belonged. As I was born and raised down here, ever since then I've been wondering if he was in trying to kid me. As I left my 45 at home, it really didn't make much difference."

Bang: Allen Prescott claims he knows a Broadwaite who's such a bore that sheep when they want to go to sleep count him.

Soldier for 31 Years

Now Becomes a Citizen

COVINGTON, KY.—For 31 years Frank Frank has served in the United States army, but only recently did he become an American citizen.

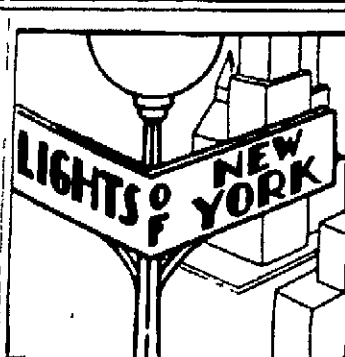

Frank, a warrant officer and band leader at Fort Thomas, appeared before Federal Judge John H. Druffel last month, renounced his allegiance to his native Rumania and pledged it to the United States.

Frank, who served with the army of occupation in Germany, had failed to take advantage of a privilege accorded foreigners that enlisted in the army whereby he could have appeared before immigration authorities in company with a superior officer and won citizenship. With that channel closed, Frank went through the regular prescribed routine.

Foresees Action

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—Senator Holt (D., W. Va.) predicted today that complaints of WPA activities in the election campaign would lead Congress to prohibit use of relief money for political purposes.

Holt charged that manipulation of relief funds to influence voters had become "a national scandal that should lead to some grand jury indictments."

By L. L. STEVENSON

City Life: Each evening at twilight, two gray-haired women come out of one of those old-law tenements away down on the lower East Side and sit on the shabby stoop with their backs turned to each other. Both widows and living across the hall from each other on the third floor, for years they were the closest friends, sharing everything from a batch of cookies to gossip picked up on the sidewalks, the grocer's or the butcher's. But in the house was a young man who was a practical joker. He would go to one with tales the other supposedly had told and then go back to the other with more stories. At first, neither would believe the standers. But the poison took effect and they stopped speaking. That was five years ago. The joker has long since moved away. But the two former friends still sit silently on the stoop evening after evening.

Start: Frank Black, music director of the NBC, appeared with the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra when he was only 10 years old. But not as an instrumentalist. Though he had never sung a note before, he applied for an audition as a boy soprano with St. Clement's choir in Philadelphia. His enterprising disposition as well as his love for music won him a place and for the next two years he was a member of the organization which was often heard with the symphony orchestra. And while in a white surplice, little did he dream that some day he would stand on a podium and conduct a symphony orchestra as large as the one with which he was singing.

Slips: In one of Nadine Conner's scrapbooks is an account of her appearance at a church festival. The editor of the weekly paper wrote, "Miss Conner, in our opinion, today is one of the best singers." But when it came out in print, the "n" in singers had changed to an "g." Then there is one that Al Donahue prizes. He had entertained at a prison benefit and the notice was written, "He is one of radio's outstanding singers and players." But a typo made players, "slayers." Genevieve Ross keeps one which a reporter wrote: "Genevieve Ross stands out among Wooster folks who have made good. Some say she is the best." Of course the "b" in best became "p." Alice Cornett's prize tells of an amateur contest which she reached late. One comment was, "The amateurs were well but Judge Alice Cornett was missing for half an hour." And in some manner, "missing" became "hissing."

Noise: A New Yorker, who sought to get away from it all by buying a place up in Connecticut, is back in his midtown apartment. The few rocky acres at first seemed like the fulfillment of a dream. That was while he was still living in the city and a somewhat costly house was taking shape. But after he moved out to the quiet countryside he maintains that he found it anything but that. A swampy place not far away was the home of a large colony of frogs that kept him awake just about all night. Then when he finally did drop off, the birds started in and he popped up wide-eyed. One month was enough. So he sold out at a loss and came back to where there are only taxi collisions, night clubs turning out singing patrons early in the morning, fire sirens and other night sound to which his ears long since became dulled.

JUSTICE'S APARTMENT RAIDED

Gregory W. O'Keefe, assistant collector of the port of New York, said that customs agents had raided the Park avenue apartment of State Supreme Court Justice Edgar J. Lauer in search of wearing apparel, cigarettes and other goods allegedly smuggled into the United States. The New York jurist is shown above with his wife.

ARE YOU THAT HAPPY, FANNIE?

No question about it—according to this picture—that Fannie Brice was definitely elated when she went to a Los Angeles court to seek a divorce from Billy Rose, well-known night club operator and promoter. The stage and screen star charged Rose with cruelty and desertion. Rose's name has been linked romantically with Eleanor Holm Jarrett, one-time champion swimmer.

Summary of Proposed Constitutional Changes

The 1938 New York Constitutional Convention, generally expected to recommend few revisions of the basic state law, did just the opposite, and November 5 the voters will express a preference on a complicated and far-reaching revised constitution.

It is impossible to explain all details of the changes briefly. The Associated Press, however, in the following article, has prepared an 800-word summary which will give the voter a general understanding of the issues, and the attitude of the major political parties and labor groups toward the various sections.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—A proposed revised New York State Constitution, drafted by a Constitutional Convention which was in session last summer for four and one-half months, will be submitted to the electorate Nov. 5 at the general election.

Voters will ballot on the revised basic laws by saying "yes" or "no" to nine proposed amendments, voting separately on each.

An explanation of the various amendments follows:

Amendment One
"Catchall," or "omnibus," lumping together all proposals not to be submitted separately (the vote must be for "all or nothing")—insures equal protection of laws and civil rights regardless of race, color, creed, or religion. Guarantees right of people against unreasonable searches and seizures and wire tapping except by court order. Establishes permanent registration system whereby a registered voter becomes eligible to vote at all subsequent elections. Requires removal of public officers who refuse to waive immunity and testify before grand jury concerning their official conduct. Places civil service pension system on contract basis after July 1, 1940. Restricts legislature from prohibiting municipally operated utilities using profits for municipal expenses or consumer refunds. Authorizes legislature to provide free buses to parochial as well as public school children. Secures constitutional guarantee of assistance to needy, sick and aged. Restricts further creation of public "authorities" except by special act of Legislature. Taxation article, generally directed toward better safeguarding the taxpayer, prohibits undistributed profits taxation, authorizes taxing salaries of state officers and employees, provides for gradual reduction of debt limit (except in New York city from 10 to eight per cent of assessed valuation). Finance article, prohibits both state and localities from loaning credit to public corporations and reduces maximum period for contracting a state debt from 50 to 40 years. . . .

Recommendations: Dewey, yes; Lehman, yes; State Federation of Labor, yes; CIO, no.

Amendment Two
Reapportions legislative districts, increasing Senate seats from 51 to 53 and Assembly from 150 to 153. . . .
Recommendations: Dewey, yes; Lehman, no; State Federation of Labor, no; CIO, no.

Amendment Three
Reduces railroad's share of grade crossing elimination costs to 15 per cent maximum. At present, they pay 50 per cent, state 49 per cent and localities one per cent. Republican Sponsor Robert Moses, New York city, contends it would initiate expenditures of $180,000,000 in elimination projects. . . .
Recommendations: Dewey, yes; Lehman, no; State Federation of Labor, no; CIO, no.

Amendment Four
Permits state to assist in removing slums and to provide low cost housing by authorizing state debt up to $300,000,000 from which loans could be made to municipalities. Grants municipalities and other localities power to borrow an additional two per cent over debt limit for housing purposes. . . .
Recommendations: Dewey, yes; Lehman, yes; State Federation of Labor, yes; CIO, yes.

Amendment Five
Writes a new judicial article, featured by a provision requiring a judicial review on facts as well, as on law of virtually all decisions of state bureaus except those dealing with taxation, education and workmen's compensation. . . . Also creates a new Supreme Court district in Nassau and Suffolk counties; requires retirement of judicial officers, except peace and police justices, at 70; empowers court of appeals to enforce rules for the admission and discipline of attorneys. . . . Some Democrats described proposal requiring judicial review of administrative rulings as "a whack at the New Deal." . . . Both Lehman and Dewey contend it would cripple governmental administration. . . .

Recommendations: Dewey, no; Lehman, no; State Federation of Labor, no; CIO, no.

Amendment Six
Popularly characterized as "Labor's Bill of Rights," declares labor is not a commodity, writes into the constitution the existing statutory provisions for minimum wage, maximum hours and prevailing rates of wages for employees engaged on public works and guarantees employees the right to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing. . . .
Recommendations: Dewey, yes; Lehman, yes; State Federation of Labor, yes; CIO, yes.

Amendment Seven
Outlaws, by constitutional fiat, proportional representation as a method of election. . . . P. R. is now in operation only in New York city, where it was adopted in 1936 in a popular referendum. . . .
Recommendations: Dewey, no; Lehman, no; State Federation of Labor, no; CIO, no.

Amendment Eight
Writes into the fundamental law the principle that social welfare is a concern of the state. . . . Specifically, it empowers the Legislature to provide for "the protection by insurance or otherwise against the hazards of unemployment, sickness and old age." Inclusion of the word "sickness," finally permitted after it had once been eliminated, opens the way for a state system of health insurance. . . .
Recommendations: Dewey, yes; Lehman, yes; State Federation of Labor, yes; CIO, yes.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
No Number, No Vote
Ossining, N. Y.—For 35 years, Village President Howard Dunscomb has been a Republican—but no longer.

He's going to vote against the Republican county ticket in November, he said, because the county organization does not give "proper recognition to Ossining and certainly not to me as mayor."

For instance, he wrote William F. Bleakley, candidate for county executive, he's been trying to get a low auto license number for three years and every year he got only "the usual song and dance."

Sweet Rent
Sullivan, Ind.—Lester Ridge and his family were unable to use their front porch all summer because a swarm of bees had taken it over. But the bees paid rent. They left 100 pounds of honey, in a porch column.

Reverse Play
Klamath Falls, Ore.—The Merrill High School football team let its game with Marlin High blow right out of its hands.

A Merrill punter stood on his goal line and kicked into a gale. The wind blew the ball back into the end zone and the referee ruled it a safety for Marlin.

Final score 2-0, Marlin.

Costly Efficiency
Sterling, Colo.—Edward Reitz, 14, was altogether too good in his cowboy roping.

Riding along a fence, Edward practiced tossing his lariat at the posts.

He made a catch.

The rope tightened around his left hand, fracturing the thumb and four fingers. The thumb was amputated at the hospital.

LIL' ABNER

LOVE GOES MARCHING ON—

By AL CAPP

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—At one of those caviar soirees for a visiting hunter the hostess was moaning over the shortcomings of her new butler. Just then the inept Jeeves came in and slipped on a rug, spilling a tray of cocktail glasses and causing no end of confusion. "See!" cried the dowager. "Every day he gets worse—and today he's like tomorrow!"

IT HAPPENED in a backstage dressingroom five years ago. Raymond Massey, the English actor, was talking to two Broadway reporters, and he said: "I think Abraham Lincoln is history's most interesting American. I'd like to play him on the stage, if someone wrote a good play about him." All of which proves that dreams do come true, even for actors. Massey has now been given the role of Lincoln as a young man on the midwest plains—before he reaches the White House. The title of the play is "Abe Lincoln in Illinois." An inveterate between-the-act smoker at the theater is George Jessel, who admits that he has abandoned Hollywood for good. At a recent first night the comedian found himself blocked from the aisle by a stout and unbudging dowager who glared hostilely at him when he tried to ease past. Later, at the second act curtain, the good George again desired to converse with friends in the lobby. Noting her displeasure, Jessel raised his hand, leaned close, and solemnly told her, "Madame, on my honor as a boy scout, a scholar, and a gentleman, I swear not to bother you again this night if you will let me pass."

AT LAST, it is explained how the Queen of Bermuda made such a fine showing in the recent international boat races. The sailors enjoyed the expert advice of Doris Humphrey, the dancer, who went up to Poughkeepsie and privately supervised the boys in some much needed exercises. She also boarded the lifeboat and, pounding a tom tom, proceeded to beat a fine sense of rhythm into the stroke. Those early morning spins on the river were exciting, she confesses. How came Miss Humphrey so interested in the Bermuda? Her husband is an officer aboard that craft.

Anyhow, in covering the actual race, one sports writer came nearer the truth than he realized. In his story appeared this sentence: "The Queen of Bermuda boat fairly danced over the waves."

UNION CENTER. Union Center, Oct. 28.—Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schultz Sunday were Mrs. George Walker, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Drake and son, Edmund, Jr., of Port Ewen, Mrs. Bessie Zimmerman and daughter, June Simon. Countess spent Sunday with his son, Harry.

"Rock of Ages" and the Bible. The words of the well-known hymn "Rock of Ages" can be coupled with quotations or paraphrases from the Bible in a very interesting way. Of course, the song is not made up of literal quotations from the Scriptures, but the lines refer to passages which are strikingly similar: Psalm 62:5-6; Exodus 33:22; From they riven side which flowed—John 19:34; Be of sin the double cure;—11 Kings 2:9-10; Cleanse from its guilt and power, —Isaiah 1:18; Not the labor of my hands, —Psalm 63:6; Can fulfill the laws demands; —Matthew 5:17-18; Could my zeal no respite know, —Psalm 69:6; Could my tears forever flow, —Psalm 6:6; All my sin could not atone; —Hebrews 10:2-6; Thou must save, and thou alone, —Hebrews 10:3-10; Nothing in my hands I bring; —Isaiah 4:1; Simply to they cross I cling; —Galatians 6:14; Naked, come to thee for dress, —Romans 13:14; Helpless, look to thee for grace —Philippians 4:13; Foul, to the fountain fly; —Psalm 51:7; Wash me, Savior, or I die.—John 13:8; While I draw this fleeting breath, —Psalm 103:15-16; When my eyelids close in death, —Ecclesiastes 12:3-7; When I soar to world's unknown, —John 14:2-3; See thee on thy judgment throne, —Matthew 25:31; Rock of ages, cleft for me.—1 Corinthians 10:4; Let me hide myself in thee.—Psalm 17:3.

Read it or not: The Arizona capital has been located at Fort Whipple, Prescott, Tucson, Prescott again, and finally Phoenix.

Two Mexicans quarreled and decided to fight a duel. To do this without attracting too much attention, they took a train into the country. The first Mexican asked for a return ticket, but his opponent only took a single. "Ha-ha," laughed the first. "You expect not to come back, my friend?" "I never do," replied the other calmly. "I always take my adversary's return half."

News Item (Miami Herald): "He was hanged at 9 a. m., after losing his final plea, to the Court of Criminal Appeal." Doggone!

SHOKAN

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wendt, Jr., of Elmhurst spent Sunday with relatives in this section.

On Friday evening of this week the members of the Shokan Reformed Sunday school will hold their annual Halloween social in the church basement. Refreshments and games will be features of the party, which everyone is cordially invited to attend.

John Warren, a former resident of Shokan, came here last week and removed a quantity of personal property which he had stored in the barn of the late Mrs. Sarah Elmendorf's place in the village center.

Mrs. George Giles of the old state road is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Philip Chopay, and family, at Springfield Valley, L. I. James A. Stiles, a former newspaperman, who spent several months in the village, has gone to Monticello, Vt., where he plans to remain for the winter.

Douglas Hartwig and Robert Peck, accompanied by their friend, Bruce Tucker, have been spending a few days in Shokan.

Members of the reservoir forestry crew are getting out of camp. The wood is hauled to the Ashokan yards by Frank Gordon and others in city trucks.

Practically all traces of the storm havoc wrought in Otto Grossman's front yard have been obliterated by Mr. Grossman and assistants, who have removed the big poplar stumps and landscaped the yard with large evergreens.

Harvey Clancy, whose tragic death took place at Phoenicia Saturday, was well known in this section. Mr. Clancy was a boy residing in the Temple's Pond sector of Hurley, not far from the Olive town line.

Word has reached here of a successful major operation undergone by Miss Emmie Ilyams, Brooklyn High School teacher and occasional visitor to Shokan.

Paul James, local grocer, this week is harvesting his crop of corn near Kingston. Among those assisting Mr. James in the work are Lester Alexander and Dutch DuBois.

Kenneth Warren of Mt. Tremper is retailing milk in this section for the Harry Bailey stock farm.

Fast Work

"WE haven't any money with which to buy presents," Rip said, "but we can do things which will mean just as much to Willy Nilly, and we can have a fine, gay celebration, too."

"I think it would be wise for us to watch out and see that he doesn't notice us weeding the garden or cleaning the automobile. One of us will stand guard by the eaves as the leaves are piled up and if he looks out of the window will seem to be finishing one of the piles and take up his attention in some way or other."

But Willy Nilly was so busy fixing up his house and then attending to the pantry and cellar that he did not notice what his Puddle Muddlers were doing. He knew they were busy and happy. All was well in Puddle Muddle, and Willy Nilly was satisfied.

"Of course," he thought to himself, "I should have done something about my sticking-out, pointed ears while I was on my vacation, but then I did have a good time and that was important."

So he went on with his work. The shelves were cleaned, boxes and jars were put back in their places. Willy Nilly was accomplishing a great deal. But that was nothing compared to all the Puddle Muddlers were doing. Never had they worked so quickly, never had they worked so well. It would soon be the little man's birthday.

The automobile Two-Ways and the trailer had been scrubbed by Sweet Face and Rip. Weeds were in neat piles which had been taken out of the garden by Christopher, and the leaves had been raked by all—raked with their paws and webbed feet!

Wounded Napanoch Hunter Reported Feeling Better

Earl West of Napanoch, who was shot accidentally by William Stangle while hunting in the vicinity of Lackawack Wednesday afternoon, was reported as feeling better this morning. At the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, where West was taken following the accident, it was stated that his condition apparently was better, but that it was still serious.

West was "peppered" with shot that struck him in the right arm and shoulder and also in the back, the most serious feature of his injuries being the fact that the lung was punctured, in addition to his losing a considerable amount of blood.

They had come to the most important scene in the film, and the director was exclaiming what was to happen.

"Now understand," he said to the hero, "in this scene the lion will pursue for 500 feet." The hero looked at the lion, then at the director. "Five hundred feet," he echoed, dismally. "Yes," that and no more. You understand. Our hero nodded. "I do, but does the lion?"

ROOSEVELT AND MUNDELEIN SEE NAVY DAY PROGRAM

President Roosevelt and George Cardinal Mundelein (right) of Chicago viewed the Navy Day program at Washington navy yard from the deck of the presidential yacht Potomac. Later they took a short cruise, preliminary to the prelate's departure for Rome. At the left is the president's naval aide, Capt. Daniel J. Callaghan.

No Fighting Reported

Hendaye, France (at the Spanish frontier), Oct. 28 (AP)—Both insurgent and government reinforcements moved up today on the southern Madrid front, where insurgent Generalissimo Franco's troops twice this week tried to crack government lines. No fighting was reported, however.

Two Firemen Die

Newark, N. J., Oct. 28 (AP)—Two firemen died from suffocation early today while battling a minor fire in the basement of a butcher store in the Vailsburg section of the city. Firemen estimated the blaze caused less than $10 damage. Acting Battalion Chief George Jacques, 39, and fireman Frederick Herrmann, 58, were both overcome by a combination of escaping illuminating gas and smoke, firemen said.

Chinese Coin Bank DoesTrick as Deposit Reward

NEW YORK.—The mechanical coin bank that rewards depositors with some amusing action was not invented by an ingenious Yankee but was known to the Chinese about 2,000 years ago. A primitive example of this contrivance made by some Chinese craftsman of the Han dynasty (206 B. C. A. D. 220) has been presented anonymously to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

It is a rectangular pottery almsbox with simulated lock and studding indicating that it was patterned after a more durable treasure chest. The four corners are supported by fat, squatting human figures.

"Inserted in the top is a movable piece weighted on the inside of the box," according to Alan Priest, curator of far eastern art at the Metropolitan. "On it sits a bear with one paw raised over its head. This piece is so arranged that when coins of sufficient heaviness are dropped into the slot at the edge of the box they strike the weight and the bear bows his thanks."

The board is also erecting a large open shed adjoining the enclosed shed. This new shed is 125 feet long and 30 feet deep. It will be used to store sand that is used in sanding the streets during the winter months, and also for the storage of the summer equipment, such as rollers, graders, etc.

Fifth Day of Strike

Shanghai, Oct. 28 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Pan Yih-cheng and his bride of four months began the fifth day of a hunger strike today. They hoped to force his wealthy parents to contribute 4,000,000 Chinese dollars (nominally $640,000) to help the Chinese cause against Japan. The father, a Canton merchant, Chinese newspapers said, agreed to contribute a million but the offer was rejected.

Extremely Sever

Moscow, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Soviet government, to safeguard pilots' lives, will be "extremely severe" henceforth towards permitting record flight attempts. At a reception yesterday for three Soviet women fliers who set a women's distance mark in September, Joseph Stalin said the lives of pilots "are more precious to us than any records no matter how great or renowned they might be."

Lovely in Dish Garden*Easy to Plant and Care For Faraway scenes? Woodland dells? Build them in miniature in your dish garden or capture their beauty in a bottle garden.

You can enjoy the fantastic beauty of the Orient by planting in your dish garden tall sansevierias, quaint Japanese rubber plants and drooping philodendrons.

Use a painted watertight baking pan or dish. Cover bottom with drainage material and fill with garden loam. Make a blue lake from half a rubber ball or toy dish painted blue inside and filled with water.

Or turn your dish garden into a Sahara oasis by planting small umbrella palms grown from the tops of an old plant or from seeds.

Your favorite woodland dell will spring to life if you plant seeds of Virginia cedar, pine and elm. To keep dish garden plants healthy spray once or twice daily.

It's amusing, too, to make a bottle garden with gay begonia, tiny palms and ferns. Push plants into place easily with wire forceps.

Our 32-page booklet gives expert advice on bottle gardens, terrariums and dish gardens. How to grow gardenias and orchids in terrariums. Kitchen herb gardens.

Schirick Returns From Arson Case

Justice Harry E. Schirick returned from Columbia county, where for some time past he has been engaged in the trial of the Abo Laskowitz arson case which was transferred to Columbia county from Sullivan county after two disagreements had been recorded there. The jury, which has been in custody of deputy sheriffs since the commencement of the trial, last night returned a verdict of guilty of the crime of arson, second degree.

Laskowitz, a resident of Sullivan county, was charged with having procured the burning of property in Sullivan county. During the trial several witnesses were sworn from Clinton State Prison, Sing Sing Prison and also from the Massachusetts State Prison. The charge was that Laskowitz produced fire-bugs to set fire to property of Sullivan residents so insurance might be collected and it was charged that for the services he was paid. The jury twice in Sullivan county disagreed and the third trial, held in Columbia county, resulted in a conviction. The defendant faces a long prison term.

Dr. L. J. Palmer Tells of Prisons

The best prevention against increasing prison population is the home and the community, Dr. L. J. Palmer, warden of the Wallkill Medium Security Prison, told members of the local E. K. Club last night where he was a guest speaker.

Dr. Palmer expressed himself as somewhat of a pessimist on the efficiency of prison treatment and for this reason, he said, he was a proponent of probation insofar as practicable.

By probation, he said, the convicted person is allowed to remain a useful member of the community and is not exposed to the baneful contacts of prison life. He praised such organizations as the Boy Scouts, and said that it would pay every member of a community to give serious thought to the problem of keeping the young person out of today out of the prison 10 years hence.

Exalted Ruler John M. Cashin called on District Attorney C. B. Murray, a member of Kingston lodge, to introduce Dr. Palmer. It was only through Mr. Murray's efforts that Dr. Palmer was secured as a speaker and in his introductory words District Attorney Murray alluded to the fact that the current issue of the Reader's Digest contains an article concerning Dr. Palmer and his work at Wallkill, where the prisoners enjoy unusual freedom and sustain themselves partially by their own work.

Dr. Palmer commented on the widespread interest of all classes of citizens in criminology and penology, and stated that such interest was entirely defensible since all taxpayers contribute their bit in support of penal institutions.

As to the purposes of such institutions Dr. Palmer pointed out that first, prisons incarcerate people who have violated the laws of society and were too dangerous to pursue their criminal propensities unmolested, and that secondly, and more important, prisons should and do attempt to rehabilitate those imprisoned so that upon completion of a term they may become useful members of society.

Despite varying treatments of prisoners, 56 per cent of the prison population in the United States is constituted of second offenders. In other words, prisons do a less than 50 per cent effective job in rehabilitation. One of the difficulties is the overcrowding in prisons. Another is the difficulty of finding work for the prisoners to perform. This is particularly true of the prisons in the state where there is not enough work to go around. In Sing Sing only 700 out of 2,800 can be put to work, the remainder idling and becoming so accustomed to not working that they are unable to labor upon release.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 28 (UP)—Quiet strength in rails, selected utilities and specialties provided a bulwark against selling in other parts of today's stock market.

Steels, motors, aircrafts and other recent climbers fell fractions to 2 points at the start, but many of these subsequently recovered losses. While the list steadied somewhat, numerous issues were under water near the final hour.

Dealings were relatively slow throughout, transfers being at the rate of some 1,500,000 shares.

Announcement of a wide power expansion program by the National Defense Finance Committee, in cooperation with leading utility corporations, helped to revive flagging market interest. Other business news, on the whole, was encouraging to recovery forces.

Railroad bonds and stocks were supported on the faint hope that the president's fact-finding committee, which is to report its findings on the carrier wage controversy after noon tomorrow, would recommend at least part of the cut asked by the roads.

Commodities were slightly mixed, as were most European securities markets.

Among resistant stocks were Southern Railway, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Stone & Webster, Electric Power & Light, American Water Works, General Electric, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Worthington Pump, General Steel Castings Preferred, Foster Wheeler, Celanese and U. S. Gypsum.

Stocks in Upward Swing Thursday

Report yesterday of General Motors for the third quarter of the year showed that despite the fact that volume of business was 64.2 per cent under that for the same quarter last year, the company operated at a profit, net income for the term being $5,367,688, equal to seven cents a common share after payment of dividends on preferred stock. Operations were at the lowest summer level since 1932. In 1937 General Motors had profits of $44,427,734 in the third quarter of the year, equal to 93 cents a common share.

With improved operating results largely as the result of better control over expenses, it is expected that Pennsylvania Railroad will show net income for September of around $2,620,000 and October results will probably make a better showing.

Stocks again swung back to the upward side yesterday in a session that was highly erratic, total volume being 2,000,000 shares. Closing under their highs for the day, industrials gained a gain of 0.23 point, 152.89 in the Dow Jones averages. Rails advanced 0.36 point, to 31.94 and utilities were up 0.52 point, to 25.19, a new high for the year. Commodities generally were easier. Bonds were steady.

Bethlehem Steel had net income in September quarter of $446,866, with output for the quarter at the rate of 46.4 per cent. In the same quarter last year the company showed net of $9,249,660.

With earnings of Douglas Aircraft for the full year are expected to be between $3.50 and $4 a share, a new peak for the company. American Woolen announced a price increase of five cents a yard on its worsted and part worsted goods.

October results of Container Corp. are expected to offset the loss of $104,106 sustained during the first nine months of the year. A plan of reorganization for the Fisco system has been filed with the SEC by three bondholders committees. It provides for a total debt of $136,762,873, compared with a present capitalization of $482,258,851. Fixed charges under the plan would be $3,336,496, instead of $12,613,106 as at present.

The Endicott Board of Trade and the Union District Business Men's Association have opened an anti-union campaign which they claim is necessary to combat "un-American propaganda" distributed by union organizers. Campaign will be carried to employees of Endicott-Johnson shoe factory, International Business Machines and other workers.

Among many reports of third quarter earnings issued yesterday were:

Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt, deficit of $103,366, comparing with net of $279,836 in third quarter of 1937. American Radiator $866, or eight cents a share, vs. net of $1,077,687 or 27 cents a share in 1937. Climax Molybdenum, $2,200,350, or 29 cents a share, vs. $1,313,279, or 22 cents a share. Western Auto Supply, $390,765, vs. $323,020. National Steel Corp., $1,813,997, or 84 cents a share vs. $5,227,071, or $2.41 a share. International Business Machines $2,032,056, vs. $1,992,647. Hamilton Watch Co., $281,848, vs. $456,253. Atlantic Refining Co., $1,068,673, or 34 cents a share, vs. $4,094,244, or $1.46 a share. American Metal Co., $327,325, or 20 cents a share, vs. $1,081,155, or 60 cents a share. United-Carr Pastener, $53,346, or 19 cents a share, vs. $262,027, or 86 cents a share. Gillette Safety Razor, $631,298, or 13 cents a share, vs. $1,338,869, or 48 cents.

Baldwin Locomotive reports loss of $503,322 for 12 months ended September 30.

American Gas & Electric earned $11,851,720, or $2.16 a share in 12 months ended September 30, vs. $12,288,922, or $2.48 a share in previous year.

It appeared yesterday that chain store companies had obtained at least partial exemption from the wage-hour act, so far, at least, as their employees in retail stores are concerned. Warehouse or manufacturing employees of chains will probably come under the law.

In a letter to the President the National Retail Drygoods Association protested against the "two price" plan of Secretary Wallace for surplus commodities. Claim it would disrupt retail business.

U. S. Government Runs Biggest Printing Plant In the World.

WASHINGTON.—The world's largest printing plant is operated in Washington by the United States government on a 24-hour schedule to print the vast amount of material for publication required by the centralization of government in Washington.

More than 70 daily, weekly, and monthly publications with a total circulation running into the millions are regularly printed in this huge government plant and distributed over the nation.

It has been estimated that a book the size of the Bible could be printed in the government printing office in 24 hours.

This printing and publishing division put out a total of 5,000,000 copies of various "job" publications during the last year.

Seen in Printer

This number is vastly in excess of quantities printed before the administration of President Roosevelt. This number does not include issues of regular monthly and weekly publications such as weather bulletins and copies of the Congressional Record.

At the head of this tremendous printing organization is a practical printer, Augustus E. Giesengack, whose title is public printer.

Giesengack gets every bit of printing desired by any department, bureau, or division of the government. The government divisions are required by law to hand over all of their printing to Giesengack and his printing office.

There is only one exception to this—the Supreme court—which for many generations has had its printing work done at a small private printing shop in the downtown section of Washington. There the decisions of the court are secretly and carefully set up in type and printed in such a way that no single typesetter or printer ever knows the contents of the decisions.

Employees of the government printing office likewise are bound to silence and secrecy, but details of confidential publications occasionally leak out through "sources" in the government printing office.

It Covers 22 Acres of Floor.

This printing establishment employs 5,500 printers, typesetters, photo-engravers, mechanics, clerks, and other workers. Its annual pay roll amounts to $12,000,000. It occupies 600,000 square feet of space, which is the equivalent of 22 acres.

The government printing office was established in 1801 and it has expanded rapidly ever since. It is by far the largest printing establishment in the world, with 400 typesetting and casting machines setting approximately 2,500,000 ems (units) of type annually. There are approximately 300 complete printing press units.

Among other things this printing office prints postal cards for the post office, 4,000,000 in a single year.

The printing office is geared to do high speed work as well as regular printing. During sessions of congress the daily record of what happens is printed over night and is mailed and distributed in time for use the next morning.

The printing office charges each government division the cost price for printing. The plant makes extra charges for rush work.

Cascades Park Is Added

SEATTLE, WASH.—To the nation's sylvan playgrounds will be added 4,272 acres of primitive timberland in the snow-capped Cascades, near Snoqualmie pass, as a result of acquisition of the area by the United States government.

Creation of the park, with its giant trees and singing icy mountain streams, will be a monument to the ceaseless work of J. C. Kuhn, assistant regional forester, United States forest service.

Kuhn was captivated by the enchanting region while supervisor of the Snoqualmie National forest and when destruction of virgin Douglas firs and cedars, hemlock, spruce and yew was threatened four years ago he headed a movement to save the timber.

Aided by Asahel Curtis, noted for his work in saving the state's trees and scenic beauty spots, and by numerous civic and conservation groups, Kuhn quietly negotiated for deeds to the land from private owners, the government giving property of equal value elsewhere in exchange.

Tale of Four Bottles

BOSTON.—Four sealed bottles cast overboard by the crew of the schooner Emma M. Morrissey in 1896 were picked up on the shores of Norway nearly two years later.

A bottle recovered at Hjelmsøy traveled 4,100 miles, one found at Flakanger, 3,500 miles, one at Vest Vaaga, Lofoten islands, 3,700 miles and the fourth at Soro island, 4,000 miles.

ELLENVILLE

Materials Grand Officer
Ellenville, Oct. 28.—At the regular meeting of the Royal Arch Masons Monday evening, the Right Excellent Theodore D. Billings, grand master of the 1st Valley, of the state of New York, made his official visit to Wawarsing Chapter, No. 246, R. A. M. There was a large attendance and refreshments and a social hour followed the meeting.

Woman's Club Meeting

Ellenville, Oct. 28 (UP)—The Ellenville Woman's Club enjoyed a unique program Tuesday afternoon which consisted of an interesting radio broadcast on group medical practice, a debate featuring Dr. Morris Flabbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, and Dr. Richard C. Cabot, professor at the Harvard Medical School. A business meeting preceded the radio program, which was followed by musical entertainment furnished by the Ellenville High School girls' sextet, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Reicher, and two piano selections by Miss Frances Klees, pianist. The social committee, in charge of Mrs. E. Gordon Jansen, then served refreshments which brought the afternoon to a close.

Word 'Raisin' From Latin

The word "raisin" is of ancient origin, derived from the Latin word for "cluster of grapes," "racemus." The name was at one time restricted to the small yellow grape grown in limestone soil near Smyrna, in Asia. The average time of drying and curing a tray of raisins is about three weeks, all depending on the weather. The earliest picked grapes dry in 10 days and the later ones often take four weeks or more. The bunches are cut from the vines and placed on shallow trays two feet wide, three feet long, and one inch high, on which the grapes are allowed to sun-dry, being turned from time to time by simply placing an empty tray top side down on the full one, then turning both over and shaking off the top tray. After the raisins are dried they are stored away in the sweat boxes until they are packed and prepared for shipment.

Strychnine Is Obtained

From Poison-Nut Seeds

Strychnine is one of the oldest poisons known to man, and is none other than the Kuruchilla of the ancient Hindus, according to a writ-up in London Tit-Bits Magazine. In Europe it was described as having no medicinal value as late as A. D. 1840, but in India it was used centuries before in the treatment of dysentery, fevers and dyspepsia.

The drug is obtained from the seeds of the Strychnos Nux Vomica, or poison-nut tree, which grows in the East Indies. They are broad, flat about an inch in diameter, covered with tiny, downy hairs, and very bitter when tasted.

The seeds are also commonly known in various parts as "dog buttons," "Quaker buttons" and "rat's hane," and are contained in a fruit which closely resembles an orange in shape and color.

Strychnine is a cruelly violent poison, causing agonizing convulsions.

Lonely Isle People

Are Abandoning Homes

GLASGOW.—Life has become too hard for the people of the Little Island of Roan, lying at the entrance to Kyle of Tongue off the coast of Scotland. Encircled by steep cliffs and often cut off from the mainland by fierce storms, the island is as primitive as it was hundreds of years ago.

There is no church, no post-office, stores, graveyard, rabbits, rats, mice or frogs. It is impossible to land horses there, so the ground must be dug with a spade, and there is no wheel traffic. Their petition to the secretary of Scotland for new homes failing, the 21 remaining islanders will abandon their homes and try the mainland.

Miss Mary Leotta Is Missing From Home, Father Reports

Parents of Miss Mary Leotta, 18, missing from her home, 52 Elmendorf street since last Saturday, today reported that no word had been received from her, except two telegrams announcing that she had been married.

Joseph Leotta, her father, a real estate agent, and her mother, a reporter, this morning that he and her mother were extremely worried over the girl. "We have been unable to locate her, or find any trace of her whereabouts," he said, explaining that he had contacted relatives in New York.

Miss Leotta left her home Saturday morning. In the afternoon two telegrams were received, one announcing her marriage, and the second expressing the hope that the first message had been received.

A police check-up has failed to locate her. "I wish we knew about her whereabouts," said Leotta concerning his daughter. "If she is married, we are only too glad to welcome her home. Our only concern is for her safety. We hope she has not been kidnapped."

The father labored under a suspicion that maybe the telegrams had been sent by somebody else, signing his daughter's name, to avoid a police investigation. Mary Leotta is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 127 pounds, is well developed and is a typical Latin type with black hair, brown eyes. She is of Italian descent. The Leotta family would appreciate any information that may lead to finding their daughter. Her mother is becoming seriously ill due to the strain of living in fear that she has been kidnapped.

Hypnotic Stunt Allures Public

Awakening from her 24-hour sleep. Thursday night, Carol Starr gazed out of the Kaplan Furniture Co. window, 14 East Strand, onto one of the largest crowds ever assembled downtown.

Asleep since Wednesday night, when she was hypnotized by Hanyan, "King of the Ice," who is being featured at Huling's, the girl ate a luncheon of soup, toast and milk, the first food she had tasted in 24 hours.

During her hypnotic sleep, put on as an advertising idea to publicize a mattress sale at Kaplan's, thousands stopped to gaze upon her as she lay in the window. Wednesday a crowd equally as large as last night was assembled to see Hanyan put the girl to sleep.

Today, Miss Starr reclined in a Dodge automobile at the Van Kleeck agency on North Front street. Tonight she will be awakened in the boxing ring at the municipal auditorium, and from there will go back to Huling's where she has been sleeping for one hour periods in a casket of ice.

Predictions on Outcome Of Saturday Grid Games

By HERBERT W. BARKER

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—If the best defense is a sharp attack, there's no use wasting any words before moving into action against this week's football program.

Pitt-Fordham: The fourth chapter in the "battle of the goose." The Panther and the Ram, hitherto have held such respect for one another that they have neglected to score any points in three successive meetings. Still, it.

Army-Notre Dame: It is only painfully applied will power at this corner ignores a strong punch on the Cadets and casts the customary ballot for Notre Dame. Northwestern-Minnesota: This rally is becoming a prognosticator's nightmare. But a week's rest and the return to full-time of Harold Van Every earns Minnesota the nod.

Tennessee-Louisiana State: This says your money and you takes your choice. This teetering ballot for Tennessee is an exceedingly nervous expression of confidence in George Cafego and a volunteer mates.

Duke-North Carolina: throw at the life-lines. On perhaps irrelevant and incompetent evidence, Duke.

Texas Christian-Baylor: Baylor has been misleading, but Christian must be picked on the cards.

California-Oregon State: California, there they go.

Columbia-Cornell: Cornell, but the Ithacans will need better anti-aircraft guns than they had against Syracuse.

Harvard-Princeton: The Harvard have lost four straight but this looks like the spot for their coach, Ornithologist Dick Marlow, to start singing.

Holy Cross-Colgate: Try this one on your piano. In a state of complete bewilderment, Holy Cross.

New York University-Ohio State: A little sad music, professor. Ohio State.

Penn-Navy: Where has that coin been hiding? Penn. Penn State-Syracuse: Maybe close but take Syracuse.

Yale-Dartmouth: Spot for an upset, but must string with Dartmouth.

Duquesne-Detroit: The Dukes should have a little luck coming their way. Duquesne.

Michigan-Illinois: That Yale scare should have done Michigan a lot of good. Michigan.

Wisconsin-Indiana: Wisconsin, after a struggle.

Purdue-Iowa: Purdue looks safe.

Michigan State-Santa Clara: Santa Clara, but doesn't look strong enough to break Santa Clara's winning streak.

Kentucky-Alabama: Should be Alabama all the way.

Vanderbilt-Georgia Tech: With utmost trepidation, Vanderbilt.

North Carolina State-Virginia Tech: State.

Texas A. and M.—Arkansas: One of the toughest of all. The Aggies.

Rice-Auburn: Rice has lost Ernie Lahn temporarily. Therefore Auburn.

Texas-Southern Methodist: Picking S. M. U.

U. C. L. A.—Stanford: Looks like U. C. L. A.

How the Army Team Lines Up

18 Home Games Scheduled For the Colonial Quintet

According to the proposed draft of the American Basketball League schedule, issued today by President John J. O'Brien, Kingston has 18 home games at the municipal auditorium, the first being slated for Wednesday night, November 16, against the Jersey Reds.

President O'Brien picked no substitutes for Barney Sedran's Colonials, formerly the Kate Smith Celtics, when he dated up the team, who made history in the league last year, and thrilled local basketball turnouts on every occasion they played at the Broadway court.

Prior to the 16th, however, Kingston will compete in two games, one a preview showing against Carlisle Husta's Troy club on November 9 at the auditorium, and against Philadelphia there in a regularly slated league contest. Coming into the auditorium right after the Reds will be Troy in a league game, then the Brooklyn Visitations and Wilkes-Barre.

Farmer Boy Anderson Puts On Brilliant Billiard Show

Clarence Anderson, Kane, Pa., farmer who says he can't play good pocket billiards, put on an exhibition of trick shots at the Kaslich Billiard parlor last night that had the heads of even the old timers, who thought they had seen them all, shaking their heads. "I wouldn't believe it if I hadn't seen it," expression.

The exhibition included every type of shot used in the game of pocket billiards. Kiss shots, masse shots, bank shots, force shots, all set in seemingly impossible positions, were executed with ease by this master of the unusual in pocket billiards. His final shot in the evening's performance was the pocketing of 16 balls with one stroke of his cue.

"I really can't play too well at straight pocket billiards," said Mr. Anderson after the exhibition, when asked how he happened to get into this business of making the unusual in shots. "It was the type of player who was always looking for the crazy shots during a game and I guess I just kept on being crazy." But his statement of not being so good at the straight game was taken with the writers tongue in his cheek for one of Mr. Anderson's

Notre Dame Is Still Favored 2-1

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—One of the most peculiar things about the football season is the annual game between Notre Dame and Army, the 25th of which will be played tomorrow at Yankee Stadium before about 80,000 alumni.

The game is unique because of this terrific outpouring of the grade, most of whom bought their tickets back in August. Otherwise the contest is not particularly distinguished, because Notre Dame usually wins.

Notre Dame remains an approximate 2-to-1 favorite in most of the books about town.

Cornell on Top

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Cornell's big red football team left here today for New York city where it will meet Lou Little's Columbia Lions tomorrow. Tomorrow's game will be the 26th in a series begun in 1899. Cornell holds a slight edge with 13 victories to nine for the Lions. There have been three ties.

Crowd Expected Tonight At Bouts and Appearance Of Gunnar Barlund Here

PUNTS AND PASSES

(By The Associated Press) New York—It'll come as a surprise but there'll be more reporters covering the City College-Lowell Textile battle Saturday than any other game in the country. All the students in English 54, the journalistic writing course at City College, have been assigned to cover the Beaver-Weaver contest.

South Bend, Ind.—Line Coach Joe Boland of Notre Dame might preface any remarks he has to make on center play with "staid out at any position but center." Ed Longhi of the Notre Dame first team was a fullback as a freshman, John McIntyre of the second team a center and guard, Allan Mooney, third string, was a fullback, John Flanagan of the fourth, a right halfback, and Bob Osterman of the fifth team, an end, before being shifted to the pivot job.

Syracuse, N. Y.—Wilmoth Stid-Sligh, Syracuse's negro halfback used sparingly in the first two games, has rolled up a remarkable record, mostly against Cornell and Michigan State. He has completed 15 passes out of 36 for gains of 411 yards, with five of the heaves going for touchdowns. He has averaged four and a half yards on every try carrying the ball, run back three kickoffs for 100 yards and turned in an outstanding defensive game.

Gainer Boxes Lewis Tonight

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 28 (AP)—John Henry Lewis of Phoenix, Ariz., world's light-heavyweight champion, will put his coveted crown, which he has not defended for two years, on the block tonight in a 15-rounder against Al Nelson Gainer, New Haven's persistent contender.

As the hour for the twice-postponed battle—the first title bout in the light-heavy division between two negroes—draw near betting circles made Lewis a 7 to 5 favorite to retain the championship he won three years ago from Bob Olin in St. Louis.

Dartball Game Fair Street Men's Club dartball team will play the Woodstock church team at Woodstock Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

A crowd is expected at the municipal auditorium tonight for that boxing card of "all sluggers," the appearance of Gunnar Barlund, and Bill Washburn, ex-fight manager in a bit of hypnotism.

The card arranged for this week was laid out with the express purpose of giving the fans a lot of high powered excitement, presenting boys who have science to the winds and go to work throwing leather.

The names of pugilists on the bill gives an inkling of what to expect—Corky Dulgarian, Dutch Williams and Sherry Smith, Newburgh sluggers, Johnny Bilecki, Charley Raikins, Monk Armstrong, Carlo Litz, Sammy Trovatiello and Big Smoke Watkins.

All of these leather pushers are favorites in Kingston, although they haven't reached what is known as the star class in setting off a lot of science in their work. These boys are all sluggers, who fight the type of ring duels the fans like.

Of course, Snake Watkins is new, although he used to give a lot to cheer about in the days when Lou Ambers bowed here under the name of Otis Paradise. Although he has been out of circulation for a long time, the big Snake has lost none of his punching power, as he proved in training sessions all week.

Watkins is matched with Joe Blum, Ellenville heavy, who contemplates entering the Golden Gloves, then turn to the pro for a livelihood at scarping. He's said to be in good shape after training with several ex-prize ring veterans residing here in Ellenville.

Regardless of two changes from the original list of scraps, none of the glitter has been removed from the card. The Perry-Marchese match had to be cancelled because of illness on the part of Marchese, and Buddy Bennett is off for the same reason.

To replace the heavyweight brawl, Corky Dulgarian was Married Women Hear Of Isle of Capri

The Married Women's Club of the Y. W. C. A. had the privilege on Thursday of hearing a talk on the Isle of Capri by Norbert Heermann of Woodstock. Mr. Heermann illustrated his talk with slides and portraits of the natives and some of their homes.

In speaking of the homes he was impressed with the bright red that was used and which was very beautiful with the vivid blue of the waters. He also told of the family life which, since the World War has been under Italian rule. The children are taught the Italian language making an unfortunate situation in which the grandparents are unable to join the family circle.

Mr. Heermann and his wife, who is a writer and is known as Elizabeth Alexander whose stories appear in McCall's Magazine, became well acquainted with the mode of living of the natives. Only by hearing Mr. Heermann could one realize the beauty to be found on the Isle of Capri.

Mrs. Clyde Hutton called the club's attention to the social service work at next week's meeting at which a covered dish luncheon will be served. The club voted to sponsor a concert and organ recital by Dr. Elmer Tidmarsh assisted by a baritone soloist on December 2 at the Fair Street Reformed Church.

A very attractive Halloween table consisting of pumpkin and candles was tempting with its elder and crullers presided over by Mrs. Wessels Ten Eyck and Mrs. Stanley Winne.

Hospital Graduates Honored At Dinner

At a jolly informal dinner party last evening the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary entertained the nurses of the graduating class at the House and Garden at Hurley. Covers were laid for 27. The cheerful glow of the fireplaces in each room and the beautifully appointed table made a perfect setting for a dinner party.

The class flower, the red rose, and the class colors, blue and silver, were carried out in the table decorations. Large fern leaves extended the length of the tables which were arranged in the form of a T, and upon each leaf was a bowl of the red roses. Brass candlesticks on the mantle pieces completed the lovely setting. The delicious dinner was served impeccably. Place cards with a wild rose design were at each place.

Every officer of the auxiliary was present and was seated at the head of the table. In addition there were also many members of the auxiliary to honor the members of the graduating class who are Inez Boles, Ethel Carlson, Frances DeWitt, Mildred Gibeau, Gladys Offnick, Virginia Scudder, Gertrude Van Valkenburgh and June Watson.

Mrs. A. B. Shufeldt, chairman of the dinner arrangements, welcomed the guests and congratulated the guests of honor who will be graduated from three years' training this evening at commencement exercises at the high school auditorium to which the public is invited.

A toast was given to the Kingston Hospital, its auxiliary and its nursing staff to continue its good work which has covered a period of nearly 50 years.

Mrs. Charles Tappen, a former president of the auxiliary, was present and related experiences of bygone days when nearly every woman in the community sewed, made bandages and worked earnestly so that the hospital could take care of the patients. She also told of the hospital fire in 1926, when they had to start all over again and the women worked hard, until today the hospital is second to none.

Miss Jessie P. Allen, superintendent of the hospital, made a brief address, stating she arrived in Kingston when the disastrous fire took place and told of laboring under difficulties to bring the hospital up to a far better standard, which was accomplished with a new building and modern appliances at their service. She complimented the auxiliary on its work and what it has meant to the hospital and wished it continued success. She also wished success to the graduating class.

Mrs. R. Frederic Childsey, secretary of the auxiliary, in reporting on the dinner, said that it is gratifying to know that The Freeman articles are being read by a great many people. Many women have called the different members of the auxiliary signifying their intentions of joining. Several new members have joined recently and the auxiliary thanks them and The Freeman for the generous space it has allotted to the news and publicity of the organization.

20th Century Club Met Monday

The regular meeting of the Twentieth Century Club was held Monday at the home of Mrs. Robert L. Sisson on Emerson street. Roll call was answered by Mrs. William E. Eltinge who described the physical features of Florida, the recent hurricane and the building of the famous tower and by Mrs. G. A. Whitford, who gave amusing historical data of the Connecticut cities of Stamford, New Haven and West Rock. The first paper of the afternoon was written by Miss Frances Osterhout and read by Mrs. Eltinge and discussed the romantic books of the Bible, Ruth, Esther and Jonah, each one being a beautiful and familiar short story with a purpose. She made particular mention of the book of Jonah, which is a short story of 1323 words.

The second paper was given by Mrs. J. E. Fraser and dealt with the narrative books of the Bible. Several books of the Old Testament were mentioned. The narrative books of the New Testament discussed were the four gospels. The next meeting of the Twentieth Century Club will be held at the home of Mrs. B. C. Van Ingen, 190 Pine street, on November 14.

Japanese Beer Unloaded

Shanghai, Oct. 28 (AP)—As evidence of the closeness with which Japanese trade follows military conquests, 2,000 cases of Japanese beer were unloaded today on the Hankow band within three days of the fall of Hankow. A salesman for Japanese typewriters reached Hankow almost with the flag, and started taking orders.

Correct this sentence: "The script writer supplied good material—if I handled it right," said the radio comedian after the show flopped.

Canada Gets New Weapon Against Rum Smuggling Along Coasts.

OTTAWA.—The British government has provided Canada with a new and powerful weapon against liquor smuggling along Canada's Atlantic coasts.

The Canadian and British governments have signed an anti-smuggling treaty giving the Royal Canadian Mounted police force the right to chase, seize and search any British vessel suspected of being engaged in smuggling activities as far off the coast as 12 miles. In the past the limit has been three miles.

The treaty applies to vessels under 500 tons, and in some cases of more than 500 tons, registered in Great Britain and in all other parts of the British empire except self-governing dominions. The powers given to Canada will be used to intensify the war on liquor smuggling, which is particularly active along the Nova Scotia coast, where a $1,000,000 rumrunning ring is alleged to be operating.

Old Principle Retained.

An official statement issued simultaneously with proclamation of the anti-smuggling treaty explained that the Canadian forces were greatly troubled by the activities of liquor smugglers off the coast and that experience "showed that a number of the vessels concerned are British vessels registered outside Canada." The statement added that the treaty would not "impair the principle of the three-mile limit for territorial waters which is recognized by both governments."

Liquor smuggling along the coasts of the maritime provinces, made highly profitable by the high excise tax of $8 to $9 a gallon imposed by the Canadian government, has been widespread for years. The peak of smuggling activities was reached during the dry era in the United States, but now is confined mainly to the maritime provinces and Quebec. Since repeal in the United States there has been little demand for bootleg liquor because American whiskey has become fairly cheap and countless brands supply every taste.

The technique adopted by the smugglers to land their illicit cargoes in Canada is for a mother ship to come out from Great Britain or from the West Indies loaded with contraband liquor, stop outside the three-mile limit and advise smuggling launches of its whereabouts by radio or signals. The launches then speed out at night to take off the cargoes and smuggle them into the maritime provinces at isolated parts of the Atlantic and Gulf of St. Lawrence coasts.

Some Caches on Farms.

Occasionally smuggling ships come close to the coast and cache hundreds of kegs of liquor on farms along the shore, where the bootleggers later pick it up.

The protective cruisers often chase off the smuggling ships which venture too close to shore, but in the past they have been thwarted in their attempts to capture the vessels because their powers of search were limited to the three-mile limit. The new anti-smuggling treaty is designed to overcome that obstacle. It is believed the 12-mile limit will enable the speedy cruisers to overtake and seize any smuggling vessels sighted near shore.

The liquor smuggled into Canada is confined mainly to rum from St. Martin, the West Indies, and alcohol largely from Belgium. Little smuggling of first-class and established brands is reported.

Meaning of Name Antonia

Antonia is the feminine form of the Latin name Antony or Anthony and has the same meaning—"praiseworthy, or beyond praise." It is attractive and dignified, but not common, notes Florence A. Cowles in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Antonette is a French diminutive of Antonia and so might be interpreted as "little praiseworthy one." Marie Antonette of Austria (1755-93), queen of France, was too gay as a girl, untrained for her job and too headstrong later, but she met death by the guillotine bravely.

Socrates and the Hereafter

Plato ascribes to Socrates a very definite view as to future retribution. "In truth," said Socrates, "if I did not expect to find in another life gods at once good and wise, and men better than those of this life, it would be foolish of me not to be disturbed by the approach of death. But I know that I look to finding myself among just men. I do not fear to die because I am confident that something still remains after this life, and that according to the old belief, the good will be treated better than the bad."

Cockroach Old-Timer

The lovely cockroach has existed in its present form a long time. There are four different types of cockroach—the Croton bug, first found in New York; the proper cockroach of the East; the American cockroach, which probably came from tropical America, and the Australian cockroach, which is much like the large, reddish-brown American cockroach except that it is a trifle smaller. There are said to be 225 fossil species of the pest.

Ingredients in Iron-Making

Three of the main ingredients in the iron-making process are iron ore, limestone, and coke. The fourth is frequently forgotten. It is air. Yet to make a ton of iron it is necessary to use about 3,700 pounds of ore, 700 pounds of stone, 1,600 pounds of coke, and 7,000 pounds of air. The products of the reaction are roughly 2,000 pounds of iron, 900 pounds of slag, 250 pounds of dust, and 8,850 pounds of blast furnace gas.
